The development of Playing-2-gether

Step 1: Playing-2-gether as an intervention

KU LEUVEN

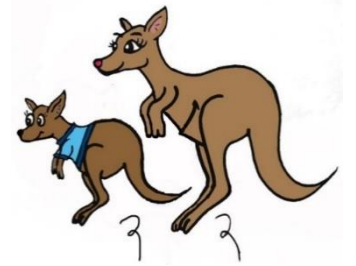

Step 2: Playing-2-gether as prevention and intervention

Step 3: Playing-2-gether: international dissemination

Playing-2-gether

Purpose

- Breaking the negative interaction cycles between teacher and child
- Ameliorating the teacher-child relationship quality

The basis

- Spending time with the child in the classroom on a regular basis
- Following the play of the child
- Reframing the behavior of the child
- “Banking” time: saving up positive energy for difficult times

Step 1: Intervention

Theoretical frameworks

Teacher-child relationship quality

Attachment theory
(e.g., Pianta, Hamre, & Stuhlman, 2003)

Teacher behavior management

Learning theory
(Cowan & Sheridan, 2009)

Child takes the lead, teacher follows

Teacher:

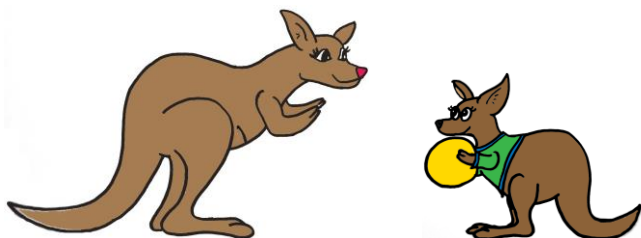

- observes
- Imitates the game of the child
- Describes the game of the child
- Labels the feelings
- Takes relational needs into account

DON'T-skills:

- Ask too much questions
- Praising the child

Results Relationship-Game

With children with more risk on externalizing behavior

- Teacher-child relationship improves
- Externalizing behavior decreases
